

The way to the future – job training at ROFA-LEHMER

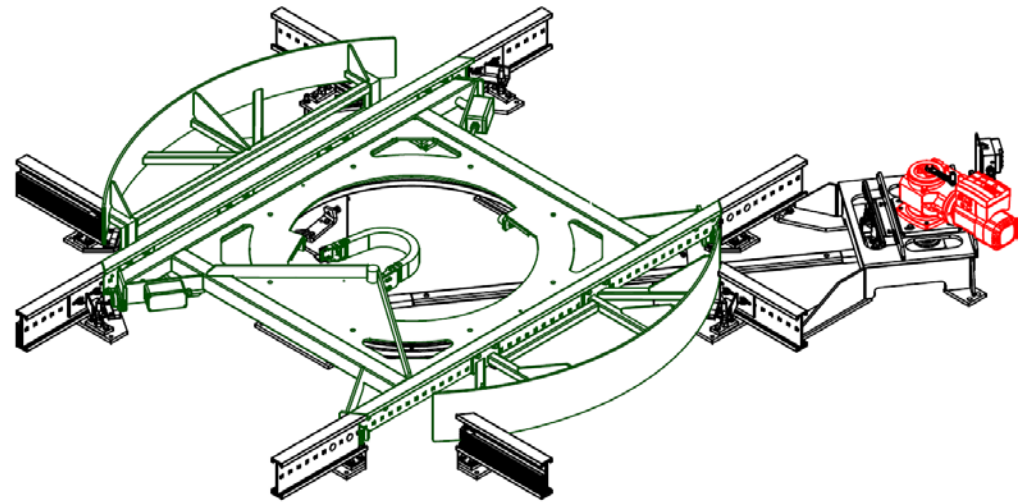

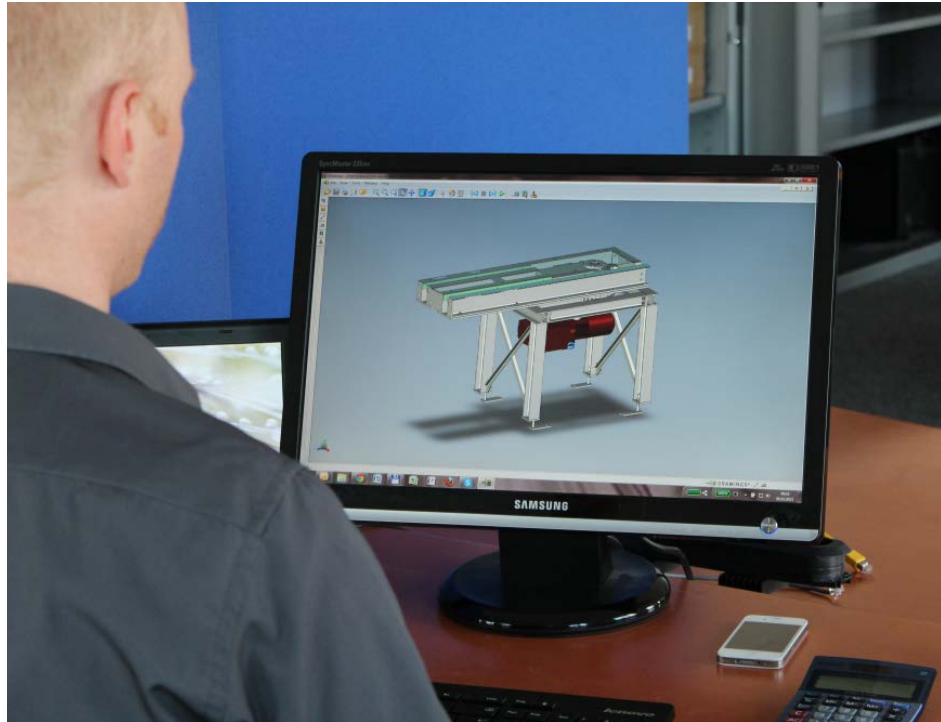

The education of tomorrow's specialists is for ROFA-LEHMER, as a modern and versatile company, a major responsibility.

Technical trainees are provided with all basic knowledge in theory and practice in our modern facilities. Practical work experience allow an early inside view at the professional world. This encourages responsibility and self-confidence, which is of considerable significance to the profession.

In commercial education, trainees pass all major departments and obtain by the assigned tasks an ideal complement to training lessons at vocational school. By a praxis-oriented education we provide a sound basis for personal and professional development.
